Many girls withdraw from school so they can help carry water for their family, spending as much as 5 hours a day hauling water. Most rural water supplies are contaminated and unreliable during the summer months. A clean water source at community schools will not just help students and faculty during the school day, but will also permit them to carry clean water home with them. The addition of proper lavatory facilities will reduce illness and improve attendance.

Contaminated River is often the only water source.

Give these children the gift of clean water every day.
